

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

BUREAU of INDIAN AFFAIR [BIA]

HOUSING IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The objective of the BIA Housing Improvement Program is to assist needy Indian families who have no other recourse for housing assistance, in the immediate or near future, in attaining a decent, safe and sanitary living environment.

WHAT IS HIP?

HIP is a home repair, renovation and replacement program administered by the Bureau of Indian Affairs and federally recognized Indian Tribes. The Snyder Act, 25 USC 13, provides the mechanism by which the Bureau of Indian Affairs has established the Housing Improvement Program (HIP), under 25 C.F.R. §256. The purpose of this safety net program is to provide assistance to needy Indian families living in or near reservation communities within approved tribal service areas, who have limited resources and who are otherwise unable to obtain assistance from other housing programs.

The Department of Housing & Urban Development has primary responsibility for new housing in Indian communities, while the emphasis of the HIP is on repair, renovation and replacement of existing housing. Approximately 52 percent of eligible program applicants need repair, renovation or replacement assistance, with the remaining eligible applicants requiring new housing.

Approximately 95 percent of the tribes that have eligible applicants operate the program through Pub. L. 93-638, Self-Determination agreements or Self-Governance compacts. The remaining eligible applicants receive program services directly from the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Eligibility- a HIP grant recipient must be a member of a Federally-recognized American Indian tribe or Alaskan Native village; and, be living in an approved tribal service area; and, have an annual income that does not exceed 125% of the Department of Health and Human Services Poverty Guidelines.

To access a list of tribes, you may download the Tribal Leaders Directory, which provides a tribes' name, address, phone, and fax number for each of the 566 Federally-recognized Tribes, please go to the BIA website.
